

MOBILE TO PLAY PENSACOLA AT MAXENT PARK

BASEBALL SEASON WILL BE FORMALLY OPENED IN PENSACOLA THIS AFTERNOON WHEN THE SOUTHERN LEAGUERS APPEAR.

The baseball season in Pensacola will be formally opened this afternoon, when the Mobile Southern League team will engage the local ball tossers in a game at Maxent park. Mr. Stuart will throw for Pensacola, and that is sufficient to show that the hurling end of the game will be well cared for.

Mobile this year is under the management of Mike Finn, and is supposed to be a stronger aggregation than that which represented that city last year. The regular team will come to Pensacola for this game, as well as those which are scheduled with Pensacola on other dates.

The game will start at 3 o'clock with Joe Fitzpatrick calling balls and strikes. The following is the line-up of the locals: Gutierrez, catcher; Stuart, pitcher; Griffin, first base; second base; Roach, third base; Graham,

TOM LYNCH OPTIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK FOR 1912

New York, April 6.—Thomas J. Lynch, president of the National League, is optimistic regarding the baseball season which will open with a flourish.

"It will be a close, hard-fought race," he says in a statement given out here. "Every club in the league is stronger this year than last. Some of the second division clubs are so much stronger that I look to see them in the first division for the greater part of the new season. The pennant race will be a sustained and hard-fought battle, holding the interest of the fans until the final days of the season. I predict the most successful season in baseball history."

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR PIRATES MAKE THEM MODEL BASEBALL TEAM

Fred Clarke, Manager of the Pirates, and Some of His Don'ts.

Pittsburg, April 5.—Manager Fred Clarke, of the Pirates, is a great stickler for form, and insists that his men lead very model lives, at least during training season. He has just issued a table of ten commandments for the team which are all "Don'ts." Here they are:

- 1—Don't smoke cigarettes. If you must use tobacco, select a good Pittsburg stogie or a pipe.
- 2—Don't drink. Alcoholic stimulants used in moderation may do little harm; they can do no good, and they are dangerous. Better be a teetotaler.
- 3—Don't keep late hours. "Early to bed and early to rise" is still a good maxim.
- 4—Don't gamble. Worrying about an ace-full that was beaten last night or wondering how the horses are running while play is in progress are alike distracting.
- 5—Don't be a grouch. Cheerfulness is a very desirable quality in anybody—a ball player in particular. Sharp answers and displays of temper on the field interfere with successful team work and often cause enmities.

- 6—Don't procrastinate. Of anything interferes with reporting on time out it out. Tardiness sets a bad example.
- 7—Don't be a backbiter. If you have an idea that the club is not being conducted properly tell the manager about it. If your suggestions are good he'll appreciate them.
- 8—Don't be a quitter. If you are getting a bad break in the luck brace yourself and fight all the harder.
- 9—Don't sulk. If you've been called down the chances are that you deserved it, and you'll gain nothing by showing your teeth.
- 10—Don't bait the umpire. Baseball law gives him the advantage over you at all times, so that it does not pay to oppose him. The captain will attend to all the necessary kicking.

THE COMMERCIAL ORGANIZATIONS of all progressive communities know the PUBLIC MEN and PRIVATE CITIZENS who succeed in what they undertake.

Read this voluntary tribute from a former Secretary of Pensacola's commercial organization, to the efficiency of my service to Pensacola, and West Florida, at Washington:

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 2, 1911.

Hon. J. Ed. O'BRIEN,
Jacksonville, Fla.

My Dear Cap't Ed:—

I notice in a press dispatch from Tampa, that you have made a tentative announcement of your candidacy for the nomination as congressman-at-large in the Democratic primary election to be held next spring. If this is correct, and I hope that it is, I beg you to accept my heartiest congratulations; also my assurances that any services which I may be able to render in the promotion of your candidacy, should you definitely enter the race, will be cheerfully rendered.

It has always been gratifying to me to hear from my friends that any services rendered by me in the up-building of Pensacola, were appreciated, and, believing as I do that human nature is about the same everywhere, I feel that it will at least gratify you to know the estimate that I have always placed upon your services to Pensacola, and this section, since your work as the head of the National Association of Bar Pilots has demanded your stay at Washington.

DURING MY SERVICE AS SECRETARY OF THE PENSACOLA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, WHICH COVERED A PERIOD OF FIVE YEARS, THERE WERE MANY MATTERS VITALLY AFFECTING THE INTERESTS OF PENSACOLA, AND WEST FLORIDA, TO BE ATTENDED TO AT WASHINGTON. AND WHILE PERFUNCTORY REQUESTS FOR ATTENTION TO THESE MATTERS WERE USUALLY ADDRESSED TO OUR REPRESENTATIVES AT WASHINGTON, WHENEVER THERE WERE ANY MATTERS REQUIRING QUICK ACTION OR THAT DEMANDED SURE RESULTS, WE ALWAYS CALLED UPON YOU, AND I CANNOT RECALL AN INSTANCE OF FAILURE UPON YOUR PART.

With a record like this as an UNOFFICIAL REPRESENTATIVE of Pensacola, and West Florida, at the national capitol, I am sure that as an OFFICIAL REPRESENTATIVE of the whole state, results would be obtained by you that would place your name at the head of the list of the congressmen from Florida who have done things.

With kindest personal regards, believe me,

Sincerely,

W. C. JONES.

IF MY ACQUAINTANCE AND EXPERIENCE at Washington, have enabled me as a PRIVATE CITIZEN to render such service as Mr. Jones credits one with is it not reasonable that I can render much more effectual service with a CONGRESSMAN'S COMMISSION to give me OFFICIAL standing at Washington?

Old Joe Sugden Tells How Players Were Relieved of Buying Uniforms

Joe Sugden, the Tigers' veteran coach, is entitled to at least part of the credit for the fact that American League ball players do not have to pay for their own uniforms. Way back in 1900, Joseph brought the matter of paying for the togery to an issue and the battle that he won from Charlie Comiskey established a precedent.

In Joe's National League days, he was accustomed to having a sum of $30 deducted from his first pay each season, to reimburse the club for two uniforms and a sweater or coat. The custom of making players come across for their own gear was universal in the old league at that time, according to Sugden, and some of the clubs, if not all, in that circuit still continue it. "When I went to Chicago," says Sugden, "I determined to make a fight to have the club buy the playing suits and I won my point after a wordy battle with Comiskey. The first check I received was $25.50 short and I asked Comiskey what it was for, though I knew perfectly well. He told me that I had been docked to pay for the two uniforms that I had received. I raised a holler and told him that I wouldn't stand for it."

"You always paid for your uniforms in the National League didn't you?" asked the Old Roman.

"Certainly, I paid for them in the National League, but I don't intend to do so in a minor league," I shot back at him. That touched him on the raw, for the American League was then in its infancy and very jealous of its position as a major circuit.

"You aren't drawing a minor league salary, are you?" came back Comiskey. "He had me there, but I didn't admit that I was beaten and finally he said that if I wouldn't say anything to the other players about it, he would refund the money on the next pay day. I said all right to this arrangement, but just the same I told every man on the club."

"I figured that some of the fellows who were working for next to nothing couldn't afford to pay that $25.50 half so well as I could and wasn't going to take anything for myself that the other boys couldn't get. Maybe I was wrong to break faith with Comiskey, but I would have been throwing my fellow players down the other way, and I felt that I owed them more than I owed the owner of the club."

"Every man on the club immediately went to the Old Roman and got a promise to have the money refunded and Comiskey made good. After that, the club paid for the uniforms and I believe that the custom is universal in the American League. It seems only right and proper to me that this should be so, for the suits are no good to a man after he leaves the service of the city whose monogram they bear and he uses them only when playing ball. With gloves and shoes, which every player had to buy for himself, it is different. Those are good at any time and the club cannot hand them down from one season to another, as it can uniforms that are in good condition."
